Beyond Learning: Where Knowledge Meets Grace

Some gestures move quietly, yet their echoes last for years. The generosity of Mr. Ashwinder Singh Bakhshi, Managing Director, Barings (UK), and Mrs. Deepti Velury, CEO, Publicis Global Production (UK), is one such act, a light cast not for recognition but for transformation. On 23rd October 2025, under their guidance and encouragement, ten young girls from the Foundation stepped into the hallowed halls of the British Council for a Kathak masterclass with Guru Shashidhar Acharya. Art, that day, became both a teacher and a mirror. The next evening, they witnessed a spellbinding Kuchipudi performance at the India Habitat Centre, where tradition met inspiration in perfect harmony. Their contribution is more than a gift; it is faith made visible. Gratitude alone feels too small a word. Meet the Teacher

RAVINDER RANA

How would you describe your teaching philosophy in a few words?

In my view, the purpose of education goes far beyond textbooks. My teaching philosophy is rooted in nurturing physically fit, mentally resilient, and emotionally balanced individuals. Teaching isn't just about solving mathematical equations — it's about equipping students with the mindset and skills to solve life's problems. I believe in shaping thinkers, not just achievers

Can you share one of your most memorable moments with students?

One day, I entered my Class 9 room and noticed students holding extra Maths books they'd borrowed from the library — not because I asked them to, but because they wanted to explore more on their own. In that moment, I felt a deep sense of fulfilment. It wasn't just about Maths anymore; it was about sparking curiosity and watching them push their own limits. That intrinsic motivation made me feel truly successful as an educator

What's your “teacher superpower”?

My teacher superpower is the genuine connection I build with my students. I teach with passion, empathy, and a sense of fun — stepping into their world and thinking like they do. That bond transforms learning from a task into an experience, and that's where the magic truly happens

Which colleague do you admire the most, and what makes them stand out?

I truly admire our Vice Principal, Ms. Kanupriya Kaushik. Her intelligence and exceptional communication skills are remarkable, but what truly sets her apart is her relentless commitment to growth — both personally and professionally.

ADARSH KUMAR

STUDENT
10A

Can you please introduce yourself and share how long you've been a part of this school?

My name is Adarsh, and I am currently in Grade 10. I have been studying in this school for the past three years.

What makes this school special to you?

The culture, friendly teachers, excellent environment, supportive staff, and my wonderful friends make this school truly special to me.

In what ways has your school journey helped prepare you for the future — academically, personally, or emotionally?

Our teachers are not only knowledgeable but also very motivating. They never let my self-esteem go down and ensure that I understand every concept clearly. Their way of teaching leaves no room for doubt, which helps me immensely in my academics. The counselors are also very kind and trustworthy; they guide and support me whenever I feel low.

In one sentence, how would you describe your overall school experience?

If I had to describe my school experience in one sentence, I would say: "This is the experience I wish never to end – my school truly feels like my second home."
